WHEREAS, This General Assembly is informed that certain persons, acting as a Congress of the seceding States, have assumed power to obstruct and regulate the free navigation of the Mississippi river by the citizens of this Union, to which it belongs; therefore, be it

Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That Kentucky, having as much right to the Mississippi river, and its free, unobstructed navigation, as Louisiana or any other State, and that right being of vital importance to her people, feels it her duty to herself and her sister States, at the earliest date, to make this, her most solemn protest, against any assumption of such power to control the navigation of that river, as utterly without right or proper authority, and as what she cannot and will not submit to.

Resolved further, That the States in the valley of the Mississippi be earnestly requested to unite with Kentucky in this protest, against the violation of a mutual right so vitally important to them all, and which their permanent interests forbid should be put in the discretion of any government, save that under which they live.

Resolved, That the Governor be requested to transmit copies of these resolutions to the Executive of the States aforesaid.

RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. RICE offered the following resolution, which was adopted, viz:

Resolved, That the committee on the Judiciary be and it is hereby instructed to inquire what laws exist in this State, in relation to the enforcement of the laws of the United States, and to report by bill or otherwise.

Mr. COFFEY offered a series of joint resolutions in relation to the Lago case, which we will publish as soon as a copy can be obtained.

Mr. GOODLOE offered a joint resolution providing for the final adjournment of the General Assembly on Friday, March 29th, 1861, which lies one day on the table.

HON. JOHN J. CRITTENDEN.

The hour of 11 o'clock having arrived, the Senate entered the Hall of the House of Representatives, for the purpose of hearing the address of the Hon. John J. Crittenden.

In a few moments Mr. Crittenden, attended by the joint committee of both Houses, entered the Hall, and was introduced by the Hon. L. W. ANDREWS, of the Senate, and welcomed by the SPEAKER of the House, (Hon. D. McMillen), the members of both Houses standing.

Mr. Crittenden then proceeded to address the Legislature at some length. [We will publish the address in full as soon as a copy can be obtained.]

At the conclusion of Mr. Crittenden's address the Senate retired.

And then the House adjourned.

MISSISSIPPI—RECONSTRUCTION OF THE FEDERAL UNION.

We have already called attention, says the Vicksburg Whig, to a test vote, taken some days since, on a proposition looking to the future reconstruction of the Federal Union, on a more perfect and equitable basis. A still more decisive vote was given last Saturday, which would seem to indicate that Mississippi does not despair of a reformation of the republic. Mr. Elliott, of Claiborne, who has recently jumped from conservatism to the furthest extreme of radicalism, offered the following resolution:

Resolved by the people of the State of Mississippi, in Convention assembled, That the reconstruction of the Union of the United States of America is impracticable and unadvisable, and that hereafter Mississippi ought to confederate only with States having similar domestic institutions to her own.

A motion to lay it on the table was carried—yeas 45, nays 20.

TO SALLIE M. BRYAN.

BY J. S. C.

Sweet minstrel girl, thy wild and plaintive harp Ofttimes has thrilled me with a music sweet As that which lingers in an ocean shell: And now I would essay a tribute pure To thee—a soul-thrilling offering I would bring, Though all unworthy of thy gifted self. Thou art too high among the magic fields Of Poësie, to give a passing thought To one so humble as the soul that now Would breathe a song of tenderness to thee.

And yet the strange, deep music of thy lyre Has touched so sweetly all the finer chords That vibrate in the chambers of my heart, That I must breathe my grateful homage to Thy soul.

They say thou art an orphan lone; No mother's voice falls on thy poor heart; But that thy life is lone, and oftentimes dark And desolate!

'Tis strange, that one so pure, So meek and gentle as the surely art, Should suffer with a single later pang. It may be that God doth punish in this world, That in you bright, immortal, unseen land He may reward with harp, and palm, and crown, And voice, thy lyre with milder music still Than ever trembled from its strings on earth.

Yet though thy life is often sad and lone, And storm and darkness gloom thy pathway here, Yet in the forest wild, mid hills and dales, The birds and rills and winds pour out to thee At morn, at eve, an everlasting hymn, And fill thy spirit with a deathless tone!

The flowers that deck and beautify the vales, The stars that gem the archway of the skies, The clouds that east their shadows down to earth, Are mute, yet gorgeous, poems to thy soul.

Yes, everything that gleams on nature's face: Her mountains, lifted to eternal snows, Her valleys where flowers and fruit perennial glow, Her rolling rivers and her ocean wide, Are each a poem written in poetry.

And there's a clime beyond the sparkling stars, Where night can never come, and then will be A shining angel there, when life is o'er, With plume and crown, to live forever more.

FRANKFORT, KY.

BOLD AND HEAVY ROBBERY AT NEW ORLEANS—Five Cuban ladies arrived in New Orleans in the Calumet, having $2,000 between them. They stopped at the St. Louis Hotel, and after taking dinner went out to take a walk. During their absence their room was entered, and their trunks robbed of the amount above mentioned. It is supposed the thief was a fellow-passenger with them in the steamer from Havana.

PERSONAL.—Clement C. Clay, late Senator from Alabama, arrived in St. Paul on Friday evening. We regret to learn that he is in a very feeble condition, but trust the bracing atmosphere of Minnesota will restore him speedily. He is at the International, accompanied by Mrs. Clay and his brother, H. L. Clay. His disease is of a bronchial character, and his journey here has been very slow.—St. Paul Pioneer.

Canada exports annually about 30,000,000 cubic feet of timber in a rough state, and about 4,000,000 feet, board measure, of sawed lumber. The revenue derived by the province during the year 1860, for timber cut in the public forests, amounted to about $600,000.

BRECKINRIDGE REPUTED.—A telegraphic despatch from Washington says:

I can find no Kentuckian who endorses the speech of Mr. Breckinridge, except Senator Powell, who does not fully concur in the ultra secession sentiments of the former.

EIGHTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

For Congress:
JOHN J. CRITTENDEN.

EDITOR OF THE COMMONWEALTH: I respectfully decline becoming a candidate for the office of County Judge. J. SWIGERT.
FRANKFORT, March 27, 1861.

The Frankfort Commonwealth.

A. G. HODGES & CO., PROPRIETORS.
J. H. JOHNSON, Editor.

The Proprietors of the Commonwealth, grateful for the generous patronage which has been bestowed upon them, are determined to furnish their patrons a journal which shall be unexcelled in any of the departments which comprise a first class newspaper.

Published at the Capital of the State, it will be enabled to furnish its readers with the latest intelligence of the actions of the higher courts and of the various departments of the State. It will also contain the latest telegraphic news of stirring events, and also of the New York, Cincinnati, Louisville and New Orleans markets.

In politics the Commonwealth will be conservative, occupying a middle and antagonistic ground in reference to the two extremes. The old parties broken up, and old issues virtually dead, the vital question at present is Union or disunion. The Commonwealth is for the Union, believing it to be the greatest safeguard for our rights, as well as our most effective auxiliary in our efforts to obtain redress for our wrongs. Its conductors do not regard disunion as a remedy for any of the wrongs of the South, but rather an aggravation. It will contend for the equality of the States in the Union, and for the absolute non-interference by Congress with the domestic affairs of the States and Territories.

We shall aim to make the Commonwealth an acceptable and appropriate fireside companion. It will contain selections from the choicest literature of the day, prose, poetry, &c.

The WEEKLY will be printed on extra double medium paper, in new and beautiful type. Terms, in advance, for the Tri-Weekly, $4 per annum. Terms, for the Weekly $2 per annum.

Speech of the Hon. John J. Crittenden.
Yesterday Mr. Crittenden, in response to an invitation of the Legislature, addressed that body in joint session in the Hall of the House of Representatives. He commenced speaking at 11 o'clock A. M., and spoke an hour and forty minutes. It was the most powerful and convincing speech to which we ever had the pleasure of listening. As we shall publish it in full to-morrow, we forbear comments upon it at present. In view of its great importance, and the anxiety with which it will be looked for by the public, we shall publish a report of it, revised and corrected by Mr. Crittenden himself.

The Military Bill.

It will be seen by the proceedings of the Senate, that this bill comes up to-day at 10 o'clock, A. M. Mr. Whitaker was making a powerful speech against the bill when the hour arrived for going into joint session to hear the speech from Mr. Crittenden. He will be entitled to the floor when the measure comes up.

It is quite likely that the bill will be referred and amended so that it will not conflict with the Constitution. It does so now in several particulars. It empowers the Governor to appoint an officer which the Constitution expressly says shall be elected by those subject to military duty. It takes away the constitutional right of trial by jury in many cases. In short, it abounds with inconstitutions which should not be tolerated. Let the bill be so amended that Senators can vote for it without disregarding the provisions of the Constitution, and it will pass. But we cannot believe that Senators will support the measure after the clear and unanswerable exposure of the deformities by Senator Whitaker.

Thos. W. Brown, Esq.

We learn that this gentleman will remove from Shelbyville, in this State, at a very early day, to Memphis, Tenn., to pursue the practice of law. We regret this step on the part of our distinguished friend, though we doubt not that he determined to remove from Kentucky only after the maturest deliberation. We wish him the highest success in his new home. He will relieve distinction in his profession wherever he may go, and whatever may be the competition by which he may be surrounded. He excels in a very high degree, in all the elements calculated to make a profound and able lawyer, and we but give expression to the common judgment of the Kentucky bar, when we say that Thomas W. Brown has no superior of his age amongst all our lawyers. May health, happiness, and prosperity attend him in his new home.

The Hall of the House of Representatives, and the gallery and lobby, were crowded to suffocation yesterday during the delivering of the speech of Mr. Crittenden. Yet there was the most perfect silence, excepting an occasional outburst of irrepressible applause.

We call particular attention to the letter of Gen. Combs, published in another column, and also to the document to which it alludes.

FRANKFORT, March 26, 1861.

Editor of the Commonwealth:

DEAR SIR: I herewith hand you a letter which I desire you will insert in your columns, and I hope that all other Union papers will do the same.

The eminent public services of some of the signers, and the high personal character of all, as well as the patriotic objects in view, alike commend it to the most respectful consideration of the citizens of the United States.

May God grant that all our past political differences may be forgotten; all party platforms and dogmas be thrown aside; and that every man who loves liberty may devote himself, hand and heart, to save his country from the disgrace of disruption and the horrors of civil war.

Yours, truly,
LESLIE COMBS.

PHILADELPHIA, March 21, 1861.

DEAR SIR: You have been so long and so favorably known in peace and in war, that there ought to be no reluctance in inviting your co-operation in measures which may contribute in a time of need to the welfare of the country. There can be no reluctance on your part in acceding to the call. Throughout the United States, there are individuals everywhere who are devoted to the Union. Recent events would seem to exhibit them in certain places in a minority. The contagion of example is powerful for evil as well as for good; and the majorities are liable to augmentation. Tendencies towards mischief have not been effectually arrested, although sternly rebuked by patriotic and manly appeals which have been uttered by the wise in different places. Insubordination has increased, and we lament to say is probably on the increase still. It can be checked only by a general effort of wisdom and strength, and such effort can be made available by united action from every quarter. Representatives of each and every section must be brought together to confer upon mutual suggestions, to deliberate on proper means of utility, to determine on prompt, vigorous and judicious measures, and to seek, by liberal conciliation and firm purpose, to bring together in one harmonious whole of design and action all who sincerely love their country.

In the class of lovers of their country will embrace every one who earnestly wishes to arrest its now dangerous and downward tendencies, and to elevate it once more to the position which it has held at least for more than half a century, in its own becoming pride and in the respect and esteem of the whole civilized world.

Your gallant State has been at all times true. Her prominent men have been prompt in times of tumult and disorder, of difficulty and danger, to throw themselves into the breach, and regardless of mere party ties, to lead the way through evil and through good report, to tranquility, honor and durable prosperity. Many were the occasions on which your lamented fell or statesman, now no more, effected, by his untiring exertions of influence and persuasion, compromises, when peril was imminent, and hope almost dimmed. His manly course has not been forgotten. Another patriot of Kentucky has been recently foremost to cast aside all base motives of party or personal ambition, and to make bold exertions for the general good. His zeal has not abated for a moment. In all parts of the Republic his steadfast efforts have received merited applause.

These patriotic trials cannot be lost. They will stand a living lesson for the present day and an enduring legacy to future generations. While there was no mere theory about them, they have remained unalteredly inoperative in practice. One way is open to render them immediately of ineffectual use. Our object in this communication is, to invite the friends of the Union everywhere, and especially the citizens of Kentucky, through your means, to concur in measures for a general convention, to be composed of men of like feelings with themselves from every State. Let it be held in that venerated and almost sacred temple whose walls resounded with the early proclamation of independence, and of a more perfect Union, in the shape of a constitutional form of government; and let the deed and the day be celebrated in the spot consecrated to freedom and to the ever memorable Fourth day of July.

Your friends and immediate fellow-citizens can but determine how they shall lead their noble Commonwealth to the selection and arrangement which must be preparatory. We have here a similar step in contemplation, and hope soon to delay its execution.

A constitution for the good of the Union is a moment of disaster, cannot require from us a detail of measures. With hearts and minds prepared to advise, and hands ready to execute, the spirit of action will be aroused and directed, and it is not too much to expect that results must ensue, like the flowing tide, in clean and wholesome waters.

Sincerely yours,

Senator Rousseau's Resolutions.

Late yesterday evening the joint resolutions offered by Senator Rousseau came up for the action of the Senate. The resolutions are published in another part of our paper. We also publish the action of the secession States, to which these resolutions have reference. Senator Rousseau, in a few eloquent and forcible remarks, called the attention of the Senate to the object to be attained by the resolutions.

They present a very important question. It must be evident to all that Kentucky cannot with honor submit to the unwarrantable interference of the Jeff. Davis Confederacy with the rights to which she is entitled in common with every State in this Union. The free navigation of the Mississippi river is a right common to all the States. The attempt of the confederated authorities to overhurl what they call foreign vessels is but a civilized style of piracy, and it never will be submitted to by the States of the Mississippi Valley.

STATE ASSOCIATION.—The next annual meeting of the General Association of Baptists of Kentucky will be held in the city of Lexington, commencing Friday before the first Sabbath in May, 1861, which will be the third day in the month.

Union Meeting at Palmouth.

FALMOUTH, Ky., March 23, 1861.

At a meeting of the Union men of Pendleton county, Ky., held at the court house in Falmouth this day, without respect to previous party organizations, Judge James L. Hudnall was elected Chairman, and Ans. L. Burke Secretary. Judge Hudnall explained the object of the meeting to be for the purpose of expressing their views on the questions now agitating the public mind.

On motion a committee of five was appointed on resolutions, consisting of Col. John E. Records, B. F. Coline, Esq., Patrick Duffley, W. R. Fisk, and J. D. Livingood, who reported the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

1st. Resolved, That while we deprecate the late success of the Republican party, and feel it to be our duty, in connection with our friends in the northern States, to give it our most determined opposition on all slavery and sectional questions, yet we maintain our opposition to a political party and the disruption and destruction of the Federal Union; and though we feel bound to continue our most determined opposition to the Republicans as a political party, yet while that party continues to so administer the Federal Government as to preserve and protect our constitutional rights, respecting the institution of slavery or any other subject, we see no just cause for placing Kentucky in a revolutionary position; but on the contrary we believe such action would be exceedingly injurious to the State. We are therefore unqualifiedly opposed to all immediate secession measures, or any action by State conventions or otherwise, initiated with a view of dragging the State out of the Federal Union, and setting her adrift upon the dark and tempestuous ocean of revolution, without any sure beacon light to direct her course and fix her destiny, and with an almost positive assurance of her disgrace and ruin.

2d. Resolved, That we are, without qualification or compromise, opposed to all conspiracies and traitorous combinations, whether secret or public, which have for their object the destruction of the Federal Union and the precipitation of Kentucky into the vortex of disunion and revolution, and there arises an absolute necessity from inevitable danger and intolerable oppression by the Federal Government for a measure so disastrous.

3d. Resolved, That while we oppose secession and disunion or revolution (terms which we regard as synonymous), we intend to insist upon all compromises and constitutional guarantees in the Federal Union, which we may deem necessary for our protection and for the preservation of the equality of the rights of Kentucky as a sovereign State, and also intend to oppose all coercion and irritating measures, either by the Federal Government or otherwise, which tend to produce hostilities and involve the country in a civil war.

4th. Resolved, That we cordially approve and intend to insist upon the Crittenden Compromise, or proposition not materially varying therefrom, as a safe and just settlement of all our present national difficulties.

N. Thos. Houser, Esq., and Col. Records, under some eloquent and pertinent remarks on the means used and the fallacy of the objects hoped to be attained by the dismemberment of the Union of these United States at the present time and under existing circumstances.

On motion it was Resolved, That the citizens of Pendleton county will hold a Union meeting in the court house in Falmouth on the first Monday in April, being Court Day.

On motion of Col. Records, it was Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in the Cincinnati Enquirer, Frankfort Commonwealth and Yeoman, and Louisville Journal and Democrat.

Regulations of the Southern Confederacy for Vessels Navigating the Mississippi.

As many rumors are afloat in reference to boats navigating the Mississippi, we publish the following extract in relation to the action of the Confederate States in reference to listing imports from the North. All boats beyond the limits of the new Confederacy going South are required to land at the port of Norfolk, Miss., a point just below the Tennessee line, when the Captain must furnish the Custom House officer with a list of his cargo. A permit is given to land freight at any point.

All steamers and other vessels navigating the river Mississippi, destined for ports or places within the Confederate States, on arriving within the Territory of the Confederate States of America, from any port or place beyond the northern limits thereof, shall come to at the port of Norfolk, otherwise known as Nelm's landing, in the State of Mississippi, and the master or person in command of every such vessel shall make report of the arrival of the said vessel by exhibiting to the Revenue officer at said port duplicate manifests of the whole cargo, declaring the name of the vessel, name of master, wherefrom the port of destination, and a full and particular description of said cargo. And shall obtain from the Revenue officer a certificate indorsed on one side of the said manifests, of the fact of its exhibition, and shall leave with the said officer a duplicate of the same.

Green County.

We published the petition referred to below some days since. We now ask the attention of our readers and of the Legislature to the subjoined communication:

GREENSBURG, Ky., March 23d, 1861.
EDMUND COMMONWEALTH.—Gentlemen: We sent you a few days since for publication the copy of a petition requesting the Senate and Representatives in the lower house to vote against the call of a State Convention, "and against any and every measure the design of which is to precipitate Kentucky into secession or revolution."

We have had no trouble to get to it the names of 775 of the voters of our county, and could get nearly all if necessary. The names we have is a majority of 153 of all the votes in the county, as shown by the assessor's books.

We send the petition to our Senator and Representative by the same mail which carries this letter, accompanied with a request that it be immediately presented and read to the lower house.

EARLY OCCURRENCE OF THE NAME OF WASHINGTON.—A writer in the Boston Historical Magazine for the current month gives an early—perhaps the earliest—authentic notice of the name of Washington. In the first volume of the Chronicon Monasterii de Abingdon, published in illustration of medieval British history, under the direction of the Master of the Rolls, by the British Government, at page 337, we find a grant of land from King Edgar, the Anglo-Saxon king, to "Athelwold Washingtonne."

The document bears date A. D. 965, about nine centuries ago.

Gov. Andrew has appointed Thursday, April 4, as a day of fasting, humiliation and prayer in Massachusetts.

The Shakers of Canterbury, N. H., have just executed an order for 500 cans of their favorite apple sauce, for Java.

CONVENTION.

Southern Rights in the Union—Not out of the Union!

All the citizens of Franklin county who are in favor of maintaining their rights in the Union, instead of searching for them out of the Union, and who are opposed to coercion and civil war, are respectfully requested to meet in Convention at the court house in Frankfort, on next Saturday, March 30, 1861, at 2 o'clock, P. M., to consult together as to the proper course for Kentucky to pursue under the circumstances that now surround her.

Washington Items.

[Special Dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, March 23.
Col. Lamon, of Ill., who left here on Friday with orders for Maj. Anderson, telegraphed to-night that he visited Fort Sumter to-day, and had a long interview with Maj. Anderson. He has taken full notes, and left to-night for this city.

No positive orders were left for evacuation, though Maj. Anderson expected to go before Saturday.

Col. Lamon was treated very courteously by the South Carolina authorities.

DISTRICT.—We understand that a considerable amount of gold, of foreign coinage, has recently been forwarded by a bank in New Orleans to a Philadelphia bank, for the purpose of having it converted into American coin at the United States Mint in this city. The reason assigned for transmitting it here, instead of having it coined at the New Orleans Mint, being a want of confidence in the latter institution since it has fallen into the hands of the secessionists. This incident is quite a suggestive one, and shows how much distrust of the disunionists is felt in the financial circles of the South.

The Eclectic Magazine for April has been received by Keenon & Gibbons. A noble portrait of no imperial personage adorns the present number. In the veins of no monarch of the world, perhaps, flows the blood of so many sovereigns as a brief sketch in this number indicates. The historic print of Lord Russell, in the farewell scene with his family, is full of touching interest. For sale as above.

DEATH OF WELL-KNOWN CLERGYMEN.—Rev. Joshua Taylor, one of the oldest Methodist ministers in the country, died at Portland, Me., a few days since in the 94th year of his age. He began to preach in Portland in 1804. For several years previous to his death he was confined to his room.

Rev. Thomas Whittemore, D. D., one of the most prominent defenders of Universalism, and for many years editor of the oldest organ of the denomination, the Boston Trumpet, died at Cambridge, Mass., on the 21st inst., aged 61. He was born January 1, 1800.

We would call the attention of those suffering from Consumption, Bronchitis, &c., to an advertisement in another column of this paper, of an important discovery for the cure of those diseases, now introduced for the first time to the American public by Messrs. Leeds, Gilmore & Co., of New York.

Coughs. The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PNEUMONY, BRONCHITIS, and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. PUBLIC SPEAKERS AND SINGERS will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement, nov26 wdtwlm.
